

What Will We Do In 2011?

2009: Swine Flu . 2010: G20 Martial Law . 2011: Recession Riots . 2012: What Next?

Here's a timely joke. Some people say: "You're wrong! You're crazy! It's not that bad!" Then say: "But – if you keep talking that 'ish they'll kill you man!" Ha! Which is it? Is corruption in Canada bad or not? Is there a "they"? Should we do something? Try to?

Do the super-rich get richer... by accident? Do we get more propaganda faster than ever? Can corporate retro-youth culture turn adults into children who make-up reality? Can we understand television "programming"? Can we enjoy life – and figure this out?

Is apathy is natural? Do governments and corporations try to make us feel weak? Do they say keep it positive so we ignore them? So we're paranoid to say, or hear others say, the wrong thing? Can we be positive about truth and take action to feel in control?

Should men age 25 – 45 deal with this? For women, children and seniors? Will anyone else? If just 1% of people in the GTA, or 55,000 out of 5.5 mm, fight back, would we be safer and happier? Can guys who like watching fights... fight? Will they feel better too?

Can we see why fake green billionaires want everyone else to use less? Will they use fake terror threats to steal the rest? Is knowledge still power? Can we inform everyone to reject the lies and get better policies? Before 2012... can we try to win the info war?

(And, with just 30 mm people, in a big country, full of resources... are we broke? Nope! We have everything we need in this recession. We just need to ask for it. Loudly.) ☺
